

LAG container black

Part no. 40731

Description

Detection container for LAG leak detectors. The LAG container also serves as an expansion vessel. For aboveground tanks, the ratio between usable contents and total volume of leak detection fluid must be no more than 1:35. If the interstitial space has a greater volume, you must use additional containers.

Versions

	Part no.
LAG container black	40731

- in-stock items
- Non-stock items